

Dear Commission, Without competing sources of information, a democracy cannot exist because there is no limit to the lobbying that will result and so the effect is to promote a totalitarian regime that cannot be stopped.

This type of influence puts decisions in the hands of a very very few individuals who don't listen to anyone else and the ultimate result is a dictatorship.

Keep America competitive by allowing dissent that can purge the discussion and allow a decision that reflects what a democracy can thrive on.

Sincerely,

Charles Mueller
